I lowballed them on purpose the first offer knowing they would turn it down. How about I come back with 29+29 32+32 35+35 38+38.

If they turn it down I put him in a prelim against a really tough guy for his last fight.

So I guess we will hang tight at the number offered. He should be willing to take less money from us. Plus strike force probably made that offer before shit hit the fan on Saturday. He has got 5 structured bonuses in last 8 fights plus discretionary totaling 250k which he certainly won't get in strike force.

Do we let Strikeforce pay him $48,000 + $48,000 or do we give them what they want?
He was making 24+24.
I offered 27+27 30+30 33+33 36+36.

33 + 33
36+36
39+39

1 year contract 42 + 42 if you can get him another fight in that year.

These numbers are substantially less than what Strikeforce will offer. They saw his last fight at 24 + 24 and alluded that he would be making twice as much with them. Nathan has instructed me that he would like to remain with the UFC and yes I am aware of the generous bonuses Dana has given Nathan.

Cesar
